Become a WATER intern!

WATER is looking for an intern (or two) for summer 2012! Interns engage in the full range of activities at WATER, from office work to program planning. They learn how a small non-profit is run and what it takes to nurture such an Alliance. Interns wishing to do their own research will have a chance to utilize WATER's constantly growing library as well as consult with our experienced staff through periodic in-house seminars.

WATER welcomes all applicants regardless of age, sex, gender, orientation, race, or religion. Interns must commit to a minimum of six weeks. Internships are unpaid, though applicants who are students may qualify for credit from their institutions, and, in some cases, their institutions may also provide pay.

Check out the application here for more details.
