WATER's Feminist Conversations in Religion Series Presents

"Embodied Theology in a Digital Age"

An hour-long teleconference with Meg Riley

Wednesday, September 14, 2011
1 pm - 2 pm EDT

Meg Riley is senior minister of the Church of the Larger Fellowship and has served the Unitarian Universalist movement. The Reverend Riley is the founding president of Faith in Public Life: A Resource Center for Justice and the Common Good. She has served on dozens of committees and boards, including the Interfaith Alliance, Americans United for Separation of Church and State, Interfaith Worker Justice, and the Religious Coalition for Reproductive Choice.

Meg will touch on a range of issues, including church governance as a management model rather than as theology. She will also address social networking as a reflection of generational thinking. Her chapter in New Feminist Christianity entitled "Signs of Hope, Signs of Dismay" focuses on feminist ministerial challenges and will serve as a backdrop to this new conversation.

Gather your friends and colleagues for lunch and join in the conversation. This is a great opportunity for students as well as for ministers and others. It is sure to be an engaging session. This teleconference, along with notes, will be available on our website soon after it concludes. To download past teleconferences, please visit our website.
